Corbin Thinks This Will Follow Widow of Dead Man Asked That Visit of Royal Heirs to the World's Fair.

PRINCE OF WALES IS COMING.

Will Personally Represent King Edward-Emperor William Probably Will Send Prince Henry.

REPUBLIC SPECTAL. Washington, Oct. 26 .- As the result of an invitation sent to King Edward and Emperor William, the Prince of Wales and the Crown Prince of Germany will probably visit this country in 1904 to attend the World's Pair at St. Louis.

Just before General Corbin and General Young departed for Europe, about two months ago, they went to Oyster Bay at the request of the President, who instructed them to take to the rulers of Engand and Germany the message that the President of the United States hoped their would visit this country to attend the Fair. Mr. Cheate, the Ambassador at St. James, had siready brouched the subject in a delicate manner to the King and it was re-Majesty remarked:

"It is a proposition which I regard with great favor." General Corbin regards that comment as equivalent to his acquiescence. The Kaiser regarded the proposition with the same agavisited this country there was great pressure exercised to bring him to accept an invitation to visit the World's Fair at St. Louis, and even then there was expressed that the active personal interest displayed in the Experition by President Roosevelt was the thing which finally resulted in the Emperor of Germany ordering an approto which some of the Government leaders at | bones have been resting so long.

The most valuable result of the visit of the Prince of Wales and the Crown Prince in Germany, he thinks, will be the setto induce the appointment by the King of a royal commission to visit the Exposition and this also is a proposition, which King ingion's history, the minister said, was Edward looks upon with favor.

The fire caused a great deal of excitement and within a few minutes after the alarm was sounded the neighborhood of Walnut street from Main to Broadway was filled with speciators. The reflection of the flames against the sky was visible for many blocks, and hundreds of excited persons rushed to the scene, expecting to find the wholesale district ablaze.

Police Captain Reynolds of the Central District, and Lleutenant McKenna of the Fourth District, with a dozen patrolmen and detectives, had all they could do to keep the crowds back of the danger line. The presence of so many persons in addition to the clanging of the fire engine bells as the heavy vehicles thundered down the grade leading toward the river and the shouts of the firemen presented a strange contrast to the remainder of the slumbering business district.

Five streams of water were turned on the burning building, and when the firemen once succeeded in reaching the heart of the fire it was a very short time till the last spark was extinguished.
